

Canada Refutes Baseless Claims Of Long Delays to See a Doctor

“True,” says Dr. Sale “Dirty” Pierre, while munching on his lunch of cold Habitant Pea Soup[®] right out of the can, “there are a very few illnesses like heart attacks and strokes, where patients might have to wait a few months to see a doctor (for free), but there are other procedures, one very popular procedure in particular, where a patient will be greeted at the door by a doctor and be treated IMMEDIATELY (and also for free). In and out in ten (10) minutes or less! And for free, unlike in the US where patients have to shell out for co-pays that can run up to fifteen ($15 USD) or even twenty ($20 USD) bucks American!

“And going back for a minute to patients who claim they are having a stroke or heart attack without the medical training to diagnose accurately what’s happening to them, especially since they are often hysterical or comatose, our highly trained Canadian cardiologists and neurosurgeons (some of them experts also in indigenous medical hocus-pocus and mumbo-jumbo), have established that after a couple months waiting period you can tell the REAL heart attack and stroke victims from the fakers, the real ones are dead and probably wudda died even if a doctor had wasted his time treating them, and the fakers are the ones who survive and go off on their merry way, in either case saving the Canadian tax payers a bundle of worthless Canadian dollars (Loonies).

Your Friendly Canadian Doctor Death

“But the critics of our socialized medicine NEVER talk about our fast and free euthanasia program. Someone who shows up at one of our death houses and wants to get bumped off will be dragged into a death chamber, strapped to a chair, listen to a taped pep talk about exercise and nutrition and vaccines and snot smoking, and then be done away with by the method of his choice: gas, electric chair (“Old Sparky,”) the needle, the black pill, a firing squad, the garrot (strangulation), being tossed out a window, hanging by the neck, decapitation (getting yer head chopped off)., drawn and quartered by four (4) horses, eaten by Sgt. Preston's dog sled team of Huskies, or being beaten to death with clubs or Louisville Slugger baseball bats, in and out in ten (10) minutes.

“In case yer thinking along those lines, take a trip up North, knock on any hospital door marked with a death's head, meet your Canadian Doctor Death and then prepare meet your maker.”
